MARTHA CONNOLLY TAKES A PEEK INSIDE FOUR INSPIRING FASHIONISTA'S WINTER WARDROBES

JENNIFER MAGUIRE:

Jennifer Maguire (28) approaches her wardrobe much like she does business – there's no messing.

She knows what works and what doesn't, and goes out there and gets it. The former Apprentice star describes her style as "sharp and sexy", and as she spends so much time working, likes to keep her look tailored, classic and elegant, and above all, professional.

Militarily organised, this lady does not hoard. "At the end of every season I clear out my wardrobe and start again." This season, Jennifer says big bags are essential. "They are great for business. You can put your broly and your laptop in them, they look good, and you can take them straight from the office to the bar."

Her other winter must-haves are knee high leather boots, leather gloves and heavy knits. She also loves Desert Diamond Jewellery, which is great for the Christmas party season. "They are affordable diamonds that enhance any outfit," she says.

Jennifer loves to shop in Karen Millen; "She does the job every time." Somewhere else she'll be stocking up her winter wardrobe in is Emma. "It's the only place in Dublin where you just walk in and she takes complete control. She just knows exactly what works on you and you don't even have to think." Jennifer will also be hitting high street stores such as Zara and Mango.

Jennifer is not one for sloppy dressing. "You'll never catch me in a tracksuit." However, she does have her casual days, and loves The Tommy Hilfiger store for jeans. "They do a great range and have lovely skinny jeans that look great in winter with heavy knits and a nice belt."

Jennifer won't, however, be adopting Posh's new style, what we in U Towers term, the 'Pop', and will stick with her trademark bob. "When you work the hours I do, it's just so easy to handle and always looks sharp."
